

THE CATHOLIC PARLIAMENTARY LIAISON OFFICE

cordially invites you to participate in a seminar on

The Ethics of Political Populism in Europe

More and more European countries – not to mention the USA – appear to be drifting towards a more populist form of politics. It is mostly of a reactionary kind, characterised by insularity, hostility to foreigners, and disaffection with the Euro and the European Union.

What ethical issues emerge from this trend? Will it affect a country like South Africa, which has important trade relations and historical ties with Europe? Finally, what of the undercurrent of populism in our own politics?

Speaker: Dr Jan Jans (Professor of Ethics, Tilburg University, the Netherlands)

Respondent: Dr Anthony Egan SJ (Jesuit Institute, Johannesburg)

Date: Wednesday 22 March, 2017

Time: 09h30 for 10h00 – 12h30

Venue: Cathedral Place
12 Bouquet Street, Cape Town (map attached)
Only Street Parking available in the nearby streets.

Please RSVP by Monday, 20th March 2017

to Tonia Wyngaard, events@cplo.org.za

or telephone (021) 461 1417