Halfway Houses

The White Paper on Correctional Services seeks to give offenders new hope and encouragement to adopt a lifestyle that will result in a second chance towards becoming the ideal South African citizen. 'Halfway Houses' provide transitional living places and spaces for newly released offenders offering them the opportunity to acquire the skills necessary to reintegrate into society in a supportive and encouraging environment. This Roundtable explores 'Halfway Houses' as a vital intervention in the lives of ex-offenders, best practice modalities and the resources necessary for the establishment of such homes.
